TabCorp

TabCorp, an integrated gambling and entertainment company, and the global media company News Corp, set up a joint venture to break into the online gambling market in the United Kingdom.

Location: London

System: Float

Client: Area

TabCorp needed a brand new workspace for 30 existing employees with plenty of space future expansion.

A key requirement of the brief given to fit out specialists Area was that the office – located in The Shard, London's iconic supertall skyscraper – needed to be a standout working area that would attract and retain talent, provide options for flexible working and encourage collaboration across teams.

Movawall assisted Area in achieving this ambitious brief, installing a Float agile moving panel system capable of diving the interior in to smaller spaces, alongside a number of glass panels. Each of the Float panels features a magnetic drywipe finish, offering opportunities for collaborative working.
